Welcome to Breeders

J. MILT TUDOR, Olin, Iowa
President American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association

TO the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association and all those interested in the past, present, and future of Aberdeen-Angus Cattle: As President of your organization I deem it an honor to welcome you to this occasion, Rosemere's Fiftieth Anniversary Sale, an occasion which I believe to be without precedent in the history of our organization.

It is with a feeling of emotion, pride and satisfaction that I pause—in retrospection—to review the supreme accomplishments of one man, Otto V. Battles, who I believe has contributed as much to the advancement of public interest in pure bred live stock as any other American in his generation.

A half century is a long time, but not too long to accomplish what Otto has when you start at the bottom of the ladder and work up. On the other hand, few men are privileged to build for fifty years as Otto has; fewer are privileged to look upon what they have built; and fewer still are able to look North, South, East and West and view his own accomplishments where Rosemere breeding is carrying on, not only in our own land but on other shores as well.

A half century's success of the Rosemere Herd in the show ring is also written in public records which are familiar to all and much too extensive to go into here—however interesting and phenomenal.

The foundation of Rosemere was, right—never the second start. A few outstanding animals were purchased from the top herds of the time. With untiring devotion to the task of constructive breeding, excluding other interests, showing his breeding cattle, breeding his show cattle, expanding, growing, selling, showing—thus, Rosemere breeding rears its head in large and small herds alike.

I have known Otto Battles for over thirty-five years. As a breeder, he has been most constructive; as a showman, his success has been phenomenal; as a judge, he has been accorded honors in the United States, Canada, Scotland and the Argentine that have not been equalled by any other American breeder and—as a friend, he is tops.

I hope it will be possible for you to join us at this FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY SALE of the Rosemere herd to pay tribute to this Master Breeder. It will be a great day for the breed.

A Bit of Aberdeen-Angus History and Progress

J. FRANK RICHARDS
Secretary American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association

THE beef cattle industry in this country is deeply indebted to the early improvers of cattle for much of the prosperity it now enjoys. Early improvement of cattle was accomplished through the importation of foundation stock. Imported cattle formed the foundation of many herds of pure bred beef cattle now found throughout this country.

In their progressive way, American breeders soon developed pure bred herds that could no longer be improved greatly by further importations. Leading North American breeders are now able to supply Aberdeen-Angus breeding stock equal to that produced anywhere in the world.

Progress of Aberdeen-Angus cattle since the 16th century is one of the interesting chapters of animal husbandry. Today's Blacks stem from the hornless, black native cattle of northern Scotland. Living in a rugged country, where vegetation was not the best, these cattle by nature had to be superior foragers in order to exist. At first they were not extremely popular outside of their own shires. For the 1500's cattle were kept primarily for farm power, with the production of beef secondary. As a result, and for many years afterward, big boned and slow maturing cattle were in the greatest demand.

However, about 1750 beef came to play an increasingly important part of the British diet. Raising of cattle for beef production alone came to the front. The trimmer quick maturing black cattle of the shires of Aberdeen and Angus were found to be much superior—producing prime beef more quickly.

It remained for the first importation of Aberdeen-Angus to America in 1873 to set the stage for the breed's great period of development and expansion. When the first Aberdeen-Angus were brought to the United States, Shorthorns had been established for 90 years and Herefords were a fixture of 56 years standing. Unhampered by geographical limitations, or limitations of grain and forage, the Aberdeen-Angus soon proved that they had the superiorities necessary to more than hold their own with the long established breeds.

Such long established herds as the Rosemere herd, founded in 1898, did much for the Blacks in this country. There is a marked similarity of the record made by these early breeders and the show yard winnings in both the breeding cattle and steer classes at the International. Fat stock show competition with rivals quickly established the Aberdeen-Angus reputation in the United States.

At the International, Aberdeen-Angus steer winnings in the past 42 events have accounted for 75 per cent of the grand championships in the four major divisions. Aberdeen-Angus alone have won all four interbreed championships in one year—and they have "swept the board" thirteen different times. Since the ultimate end of all beef cattle is the butcher's block, it is interesting to note the Aberdeen-Angus record in the International carcass contest. Here in 40 of the 42 years, the grand champion beef carcass has been from an Aberdeen-Angus steer. One other year the winning carcass was from a steer sired by an Aberdeen-Angus bull.

In 1907, nine years after the Rosemere herd was founded Otto V. Battles made his entrance internationally as a showman by winning both of the coveted grand championships of the breeding classes at the Chicago International. He exhibited Glenfoil Queen 2d as the grand champion female of the show and Glenfoil Thick Set 2d as the grand champion bull. Later this bull set a record that has never been beaten, by winning the grand championship again in 1908 and 1909. Mr. Battles showed Her Majesty 2d to the grand championship in 1908. Again this honor went to Rosemere when the grand champion females in 1926 and 1933 were Pride of Rosemere 67th and Barbara of Rosemere 100th, respectively.

Oakville Quiet Lad was the grand champion bull in 1910 exhibited by Mr. Battles. A son of Oakville Quiet Lad was Idolmere who was shown by J. I. Huggins to the grand championship in 1919. Barbarian of Rosemere 64th topped the bull show at the 1933 International and Epponian of Rosemere 8th won these honors in 1936.

Since the first importation of Aberdeen-Angus, more than a million pure bred have been registered by the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association. Mr. Battles served as this organization's president in 1920 and again in 1934. It has been through the efforts of these early Aberdeen-Angus enthusiasts like Mr. Battles that this great beef breed has earned its important position in today's live stock industry. Few herds in the country can boast 50 years of constructive effort. This golden jubilee sale for Rosemere should be its crowning achievement.

... Dedication ...

THE ROSEMER E HERD dedicates this catalog to the Aberdeen-Angus Breed. Much will be said in the following pages concerning this particular herd, which, under the circumstances, seems in order. The important thing to remember, however, is that the events recorded in this book could never have taken place had there not been a great breed of cattle, a marvelous breed of cattle, to begin with and to work with.

As one who has witnessed the progress of our breed during the past 50 years during which time it has expanded from its humble beginning in the Midwest of our own country, followed by a few previous importations from the mother land of Scotland, to practically every section of the United States, Canada, and, if you please, the world, I sometimes wonder if we fully appreciate the progress that really has been made. This couldn't have been accomplished had it not been for the inherent wonderful characteristics which the breed itself possesses, and which are universally desired by beef cattle producers.

This expansion of the breed has not been due to the efforts of any one breeder, to the influence of any one herd, to any particular group, or to any one organization. Rather it has been the result of the united effort of the fine people whose labors are and have been prompted by their respect and admiration for Aberdeen-Angus cattle. May the next 50 years witness even greater progress than has taken place during the life of this story.

To Everyone Interested in Aberdeen-Angus

THIS message is not intended to extol the merits of the cattle represented in this catalog. Some of the herd's history, its International show record and some of the achievements of Rosemere cattle in other herds are shown elsewhere in this book. Furthermore, what I would write about our cattle would make them no better than they are. The ones that are in this sale will themselves either prove or refute the value of the long years of constructive effort we have put into trying to make them good. We have always expected our cattle to speak for themselves and they have seldom disappointed us. We feel that way about those whose pedigrees appear in this catalog.

In the past, Rosemere sales have many times led the way to better values for Aberdeen-Angus cattle. Since 1942, when Rosemere had the second highest average and sold the highest selling female of the year, no public sales have been held and very little showing has been done. Our efforts since then have been devoted almost entirely to improving our cattle and to expanding the size and influence of our herd—or should I say herds—because we do maintain an important branch of the parent herd on the West Coast.

If this catalog is interesting and of value to those who receive it, as we hope it will be, much of the credit should go to our good friends who have been responsible for a great deal of its contents. To Col. E. N. Wentworth, Fred Hahne, J. Milt Tudor, Frank Richards, Sam Fullerton, J. Garrett Tolan, Dave Sutherland, Harold Castle, Joe Keefauver, Dr. M. E. Ensminger, Colin Kennedy, Nelson Crow, Bill Barton and Mr. and Mrs. Hackney, we are grateful for their fine testimonials. And to Mr. Gay Quammen we extend our appreciation for his valuable assistance in the designing and the preparation of this book.

The fact that I am the only one who has been with the herd from its beginning fifty years ago does not mean that I have been solely responsible for its development. Many others have had an important part in its progress. First, there was my Mother who founded the herd and who guided its first activities. To her much of the credit should go. I wish she might be here today to see the results of her foresight and good judgment. Then there is my wife who has stood resolutely by my side during a large part of the herd's history. It has been her lot to maintain many a lonely vigil at home while I was away on long show circuits and she has accompanied me and given me moral support on my judging assignments in foreign lands, and it was she who chose the name of Rosemere for the herd. The name was inspired by the beauty of the rose garden at our Iowa Farm Home when she came there as a June bride. Always a lover of flowers, she decided to call the place Rosemere and it seemed appropriate to also give the name to the herd. A request was made of the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association for the exclusive use of the name for registering our cattle which was granted. And recently the name has been officially registered at Washington, D. C. Many besides ourselves feel that the name ROSEMERE adds distinction when attached to an Aberdeen-Angus pedigree and many of the best known herds of the United States and Canada point with pride to their animals of Rosemere origin.

Our nephew, F. Donald Sokol, who, except for the time he has been in school or with the Army Air Force, has spent much time with the herd and has shown a keen interest in it. Although he is still young, and still in college, he has contributed his share to the herd's progress.

Others who have helped the Rosemere herd along the way are our many friends among other breeders and our many newspaper friends. Our hundreds of customers, too, who are scattered far and wide have been extremely important in the herd's progress because we have always had to depend on the sale of our cattle to meet our operating costs. To all of these many friends and customers we are grateful for their support.

I should like to name also as a friend and benefactor of the herd my one time partner, the late Chester A. Congdon, of Duluth, Minnesota. He gave me the opportunity to do something in which I was vitally interested, of introducing Aberdeen-Angus cattle to the Pacific Coast. His son, Walter, was one of my most loyal and helpful supporters for a great many years in extending the influence of the herd and the breed in the West as well as in other sections of the country.

We are especially anxious that everyone interested in the Rosemere herd join with us in celebrating the herd's Golden Anniversary. Come the day before. We shall do everything possible to make your visit with us both interesting and enjoyable.

Others who have had an Important Part in the Herd's Development

ONE of the most important cogs in the success of any herd are the men who actually work with the cattle, the men who put in long hours looking after their welfare, who nurse them when they are sick, who prepare them for the shows and take them on long show circuits when showing is a part of the herd's activities, men capable of making decisions on matings and other important features of efficient herd management, men such as these deserve more recognition than is generally accorded them.

In the history of the Rosemere herd, men of this kind have played an important part and to them goes a great deal of credit for whatever success the herd has attained. I have a vivid recollection of all who have held key positions with the herd and I should like here to name some of them. First, there was the young Scotch, Bob Brown, who, just over from Scotland, accompanied me on my first show circuit and who, in time, became a breeder on his own in Canada. Some of the other early herdsman were Fred Carter, Price Brown, brother of John Brown; Joe Edwards and John Burch who fitted many Rosemere show herds. It was John who fitted Oakville Quiet Lad for the International Grand Championship as well as other winners. Then there was Jimmy Gibbons who fitted Pride of Rosemere 67th for her two International Championships. And Wellard Catlin who fitted Barbara of Rosemere 33d, Barbara of Rosemere 40th and Barbara of Rosemere 64th for their International Championship triumphs. Billy Normile who fitted a number of winning show herds had the distinction of fitting and showing the first two International Grand Champions in one year to be bred and shown by the same exhibitor, the famous Barbara of Rosemere 100th and Barbarian of Rosemere 64th.

Kale Workman also fitted and showed a lot of Rosemere winners, among them the International Grand Champion, Epponian of Rosemere 8th and Blackcapmere 113th, the American Royal Grand Champion, both of which subsequently made outstanding breeding records in the herds of Le Baron and Modena. But Kale's greatest claim to recognition was the masterly way in which he prepared and handled the cattle for the historic Congdon & Battles sale of over three hundred animals in 1938, the sale which eclipsed sales records in almost a score of years and which set the pace for an upswing in Aberdeen-Angus values which has continued to this day.

The two men who have been directly responsible for the herd's operation for the past decade or more are Arnie Meisgeier and Roland Ehlers. Arnie started with the herd in Washington State nineteen years ago and went from there to take charge of the Iowa herd in 1939 and in 1945 he was given the important task of supervising the development of the new herd near Santa Barbara, California, which represents an amalgamation of the long established Washington State herd and a select group from the Iowa herd. A few choice specimens of this Golden State herd will be offered in the Anniversary Sale.

Roland Ehlers, who is directly responsible for the Anniversary Sale offering, has also had a long association with the herd. His services date back to the Congdon & Battles record sale of 1938 where he was Kale Workman's chief assistant.

Roland grew up with Aberdeen-Angus cattle and is still interested in the well known herd of Ehlers Bros., of La Moille, Illinois. He has had charge of the farm and parent herd at Maquoketa since early in 1945. He is not only directly responsible for the cattle which will go through this 50th Anniversary Sale but has given valuable assistance in the preparation of this catalog as well.

I should like to write of all the capable and loyal people who have worked with the herd in various capacities down through the years but that will have to wait until another day. Suffice to say now that the building of the Rosemere herd has been accomplished by team work of the highest order by a great many fine people.

Rosemere's Influence on the Breed

By FRED HAHNE, Editor
The Aberdeen-Angus JOURNAL

UNDoubtedly throughout its fifty years of existence the influence of Rosemere on the breed stands without an equal. It has been the writer's pleasure to be familiar with Rosemere's herd, its owner, and its development for about forty-five years. During this time a goodly portion of the herds in the United States and Canada have come under personal scrutiny. It has been seldom that an outstanding herd was visited that did not boast of its Rosemere membership.

While it is perfectly logical to presume that the influence of the Rosemere herd has been most felt on the west coast, that reasoning is quite erroneous, in as much as the parent herd has always been maintained at Rosemere Farms, Maquoketa, Iowa, from whence has come a steady flow of animals each year that have gone out into practically every state in the Union to do their bit toward improving the herds into which they have gone.

During my years of continual travel among the Aberdeen-Angus herds of America I have found a surprisingly large number of top Rosemere breeding bulls scattered from coast to coast. In these herds they have invariably been beneficial as improvers. The females have been outstanding and have given a most excellent accounting of themselves when mated with top bulls, no matter in what section of the country they may have found new homes.

Over this half century Rosemere entries have made their presence felt in a majority of America's leading shows. Always they have stood at or near the top in their respective classes—perhaps to a greater degree than the cattle emanating from any other source. When Rosemere entries have not carried away the blues and the purples they have been the contenders in more instances than has any other herd.

Rosemere females have proven themselves to be excellent producers of top breeding and show cattle where ever they have gone.

The offering listed on the following pages stands, in my opinion, not alone on a par with the best that has yet come from this famous breeding plant, but, I believe the individuality is more outstanding throughout the offering than on any former sale occasion from this herd. The tabulations reveal a strictly "home grown" offering of Rosemere's richest blood lines. The cattle are backed by this half century of progressive, intensified effort to produce something better each year. In this endeavor Otto V. Battles has been highly successful, a fact that reflects in the successful ownership of these blood lines by other breeders over a vast expanse of cattle country.

It is with pleasure and the assurance to myself that I heartily recommend that the participant of this catalog make arrangements to be present at Rosemere's Golden Anniversary sale to select improving individuals from this magnificent offering. The cattle are being presented in exceptionally good condition and will look well wherever they may go—and they will undoubtedly serve well the purpose for which they have been developed and prepared for your consideration.

I shall be happy to meet any of you, old or new at the business, sale day and discuss the individuals from which you will have a GOLDEN opportunity to make selections. See you sale day.

Rosemere Cattle in Our Herd

By SAM C. FULLERTON, Jr.

Internationally known breeder and judge, son of the late Judge S. C. Fullerton, founder of the famous Sunbeam herd, of Miami, Oklahoma.

DEAR MR. BATTLES:

THE story of the Rosemere cattle in our herd and what they have done for us could cover several pages. Their production record in our herd extends over a good many years, and as far as that goes, their sons, daughters, grandsons and granddaughters are still producing outstanding show and breeding cattle for us.

The most famous Rosemere animal which we ever purchased, and one which most breeders probably remember best, was Barbara of Rosemere 100th, the 1933 International grand champion female, and a daughter of one of the greatest of all sires, Prizemere 32d. We purchased Barbara of Rosemere 100th in the 1934 Congdon & Battles sale. In that sale she sold with a baby heifer calf at foot, named Barbara of Rosemere 136th and sired by Eileenmere 61st. As I remember it, this was the top selling lot of the sale and I believe the top female of the year.

After we moved "Barbara 100th" to Sunbeam Farms we continued to fit her and showed her in the fall of 1934. She was the grand champion female at the American Royal that year and was also the first prize aged cow and senior champion at the International.

Barbara of Rosemere 100th was one of the greatest "show type" females I have ever seen. We consider her the model in our herd. However, it is her production record which has been most outstanding. She produced eight daughters and four sons. One of the bulls died at birth. Her three oldest daughters remained in our herd and have also been outstanding producers. At this writing her three sons are still in our herd and are siring exceptionally good calves. It might be of interest to some to know that these calves out of "Barbara 100th" were sired by six different bulls and she never produced a poor calf.

Four of her daughters have been sold at auction. The first one offered, sold in our 1939 sale, and was purchased by Mr. John S. Williams, Good Hope Farm, Old Chatham, New York as the second top female. In this same sale, a grandson of Barbara 100th, out of one of her older daughters was one of our top selling bulls. Another daughter sold in our 1940 sale to Essar Ranch, San Antonio, Texas, and another sold in our 1942 sale to Cold Saturday Farm, Finksburg, Maryland. These were our top selling females in those sales. Also in the 1940 sale our second top selling bull was another grandson of "Barbara 100th."

The last daughter of Barbara of Rosemere 100th which we sold was offered in the 1943 National Show and Sale. She was purchased by Reverie Knoll Farms, Danville, Kentucky, as one of their foundation females. Her first calf, a heifer, sold in the 1947 Reverie Knoll sale as a senior calf for $10,000.00 after winning her class at the 1946 Victory International. Also in the 1944 National Show and Sale, a granddaughter of Barbara of Rosemere 100th was one of the top selling females.

The last calf which we had out of "Barbara" was dropped in 1947. It is a heifer, sired by Prince Sunbeam 29th. She looks as if she might be the best calf the old cow ever had and we certainly intend to keep her in our herd. All of the daughters of Barbara of Rosemere 100th have been outstanding producers. We have sold both bulls and females out of them in our sales and in the National Sales. They have always been among the top selling cattle and have produced exceptionally well for their new owners.

Even though the daughters of Barbara of Rosemere 100th were most outstanding, we wanted a bull out of her. In October, 1941, she dropped her first bull. He was sired by our International grand champion, Black Prince of Sunbeam. This was a great calf and looked like the one we had been waiting for. We named him Prince Sunbeam 100th. He has developed into a great bull and is an outstanding sire. His calves are in great demand and he has sired the top selling bull of the breed up to this date.

In 1943, "Barbara" had another bull calf, a full brother to the first one. We named him Prince Sunbeam 200th. He has been used heavily in our herd and we believe he is siring even better calves than his full brother. Prince Sunbeam 300th, a full brother to the above two bulls, was calved in 1945. We have used him in our herd and we have every right to expect that he will breed equally as well as his two full brothers. Yes, Barbara of Rosemere 100th has been a great cow for us. I only wish we had been able to acquire more like her.

In addition to Barbara of Rosemere 100th we have used two Rosemere bred bulls in our herd. Barbarian of Rosemere 103d and Barbarian of Rosemere 88th were purchased by us because we were always looking for better bulls and bulls which we thought would continue to work an improvement into our cattle. Both of these bulls have been very good sires and their daughters have been exceptionally good producers.

Barbarian of Rosemere 88th was sired by Prizemere 32d and out of Barbara of Rosemere 44th. Thus he was more than a half brother to the grand champion female, Barbara of Rosemere 100th. We have about twenty-five of his daughters in our herd and one of them was the dam of Prince Sunbeam 156th which sold in our 1946 sale for $20,000.00 to Dr. C. W. Yeck, Evansville, Indiana.

Barbarian of Rosemere 103d was sired by Eileenmere 61st, the sire of the International grand champion bull, Epsonian of Rosemere 8th. The dam of "103d" is Barbara of Rosemere 64th, another daughter of Prizemere 32d and the dam of the International grand champion bull, Barbarian of Rosemere 64th. The "103d" was certainly well bred and was a half brother to two International grand champions.

We have at least thirty daughters of Barbarian of Rosemere 103d in our herd and I can honestly say that they are among our extreme top producers. One of them is the dam of the $35,000.00 Prince Barbarian of Sunbeam. Others have produced both bulls and females which have sold from $2,000.00 to $20,000.00 each. In our 1946 sale, ten of our top selling individuals were either out of daughters of Barbarian of Rosemere 103d or Barbarian of Rosemere 88th. We had an almost equal representation in our 1947 sale.

We have been exceptionally well pleased with the "Rosemere" cattle in our herd, and I know that if all of our cattle had produced as well, we would have been a great deal farther along in the breeding of Aberdeen-Angus cattle.

I want to take this opportunity to congratulate you upon your Fifty years of outstanding achievement in the Aberdeen-Angus breed. Your success has been an inspiration to many breeders from all parts of the country. I know that your advice and guidance has helped us considerably along the way. I also want to say again, that if your cattle do as well for others as they have for us, you will continue to have many, many satisfied customers throughout the country and will continue to add many more new friends as you progress through the years.

Otto V. Battles—Himself

By COL. EDWARD N. WENTWORTH

Director of Armour's Live Stock Bureau, Soldier, Author and Internationally known as an authority on all matters relative to the Live Stock Industry.

HALF a century an Aberdeen-Angus breeder! American stockmen are familiar with several families breeding cattle in Great Britain who have devoted two or three generations to the service of their particular breed, and to the implanting of their individual ideals on their herds. But so far the record does not show a young man that can match Otto Battles—who has five decades of accomplishment behind him, and who is still bursting with the vigor and enthusiasm sufficient to carry him forward for decades to come. Otto is a veteran—yes—but his eye looks to the future. For him, the path ahead is more challenging than the foot prints which he has left behind or the milestones which he has passed. Only when making decisions, or giving advice to other breeders, does he consult the records of his own experience, or the incidents of bygone days. His outlook is into the next generation!

When Otto started his work he was a boy of twelve, and the breed had been in the United States only a quarter of a century. Furthermore, it had been promoted intensively for little more than a decade. It would not have been surprising if a youth of his age had taken up with a new kind of pet—a pony or dog—but for one to be as far-seeing as he was, and to recognize in the occasional black cattle that appeared in the feedlot on his mother's farm, the merit and quality not yet popularly appreciated, was a phenomenal accomplishment. Otto's father died the year of the Spanish-American War, and laid upon his shoulders the responsibility of observing and supervising the live stock on the place to a degree which no one could have realized in advance. The young man's curiosity was greatly stimulated by the differences between animals, and he often speculated why some animals fattened more rapidly than others, and why they made so much better beef animals from the standpoint of the butcher. It did not escape his watchful eye that the blacks without horns were smoother and meatier, and that the buyers seemed to like them better.

Hence, shortly after his father's death he persuaded his mother to buy two pure bred Aberdeen-Angus cows, and he maintained his interest in them and their progeny until 1907, when he was able to take over the herd himself. The significant fact was that he knew from twelve years of age what he was going to do, and that he had developed definite opinions as to the future type toward which he would work long before he reached his majority. He not only had selected a breed, but he knew what type of an animal he wanted within that breed.

My acquaintance with Otto began at the Iowa State Fair, before he made his dramatic burst into the show ring. I had just graduated from Iowa State College in Animal Husbandry in 1907, when he first exhibited those magnificent specimens of Aberdeen-Angus type—Glenfoil Thick Set 2d and Glenfoil Queen 2d. When we met again at the Iowa State Fair that August, I was tremendously impressed by the purposefulness of his attitude, for it surpassed that of any man of our age that I knew. I was proud of the fact that my education had taught me to be open-minded; perhaps too proud, for in Otto I met a man who already combined his education with lessons from the school of experience (the latter acquired during his nine years from twelve to twenty-one), who had definitely determined his goal, and was driving hard toward it. I do not mean to imply that he was obstinate, or narrow in his viewpoint, for he was not—in fact, when the matings of highly prized animals which he had planned did not work out, I know of no one who corrected his errors more quickly or unsentimentally—but Otto had gained a perspective toward the future, while I was still gazing around the broad horizon.

To my youthful eye, no bull could carry more quality, substance, and character than Glenfoil Thick Set; and his three-time winning at Chicago was a foregone conclusion to me. Otto knew that he could not succeed without the best, and the best was what he bought as well as what he aimed to breed. That great show herd which took him to national eminence in 1907-1909 was the product of his judgment as a buyer, thereafter the herds were the product of his judgment as a breeder. He met the best exhibitors of that day and went to the front. But already he was learning in those three years a lesson which he applied vigorously throughout his entire career. Often I heard him say that, while his first consideration was individual merit, the animals he wanted in his herd were those whose pedigree lines converged to give concentrated excellence through inheritance.

Later, as he gained experience, he produced show winners through knowledge of blood lines, even though one of the parents might lack some particular quality as it stood on the hoof. He knew that such a deficiency was an accident of care or development, and not a defect in the inheritance. This ability on Otto's part has been one of the outstanding characteristics of his success. Black Woodlawn lay behind Glenfoil Thick Set, also he was the immediate sire of Otto's second great bull, Oakville Quiet Lad, International champion of 1910. But Otto knew that good blood had to come down through the female lines, too, and the acquisition of Oakville Quiet Lad left him free for a few years to concentrate on his cow herd. He thus became able to demonstrate this centering of quality through the knowledge of the pedigree.

The story of his show ring successes, the individuals that went from his Rosemere Farm to other herds (and to most of the best other herds, too), and the financial record of his sales will be told by others. To me, the important feature of Otto Battles' record was his early grasp of pedigree breeding, and his ability to recognize results when he saw them. But he also had another characteristic essential to the successful breeder. He was one of the first, in my experience, who clearly and constructively selected his breeding animals for functional efficiency as rigidly as he did for breed and show type. His recognition of the essential service of beef cattle in marketing the roughages of the farm, his sensitive appreciation of the fact that the foundation of the beef cattle industry is grass, and his continued insistence that beef animals must be grazers as well as fatteners in the feed lot, set his animals aside as a special type for his ultimate theater of operations—the far West.

As a matter of timing, Aberdeen-Angus cattle were late on the western scene. Shorthorn breeders never concentrated on it when the opportunity was theirs by priority, for they preferred to preserve the general farm-utility characters of their animals. Then in the eighties the Hereford interests initiated their campaign to capture the range business, and so thorough was their success that few Aberdeen-Angus breeders even considered challenging them. At the time Otto started, the great majority of Aberdeen-Angus men were still specializing on a beef making machine for the Cornbelt, the richest source of concentrated feeds in the whole world. But Otto had always insisted on the kind of frame, the set of legs, and the free-moving gait that appealed to the conservative range breeder. He sought no extreme but selected for a medium-sized animal with substance, that gained his weight from the natural flesh he carried, and not from a super-abundance of heavy bone.

His long association with the Congdons on their farms and apple orchards in Washington provided the stepping stone that extended his herd to the Northwest. The partnership founded in 1916 furnished him with more than two decades of experience in this section, during which he pushed the doddie actively with the western cattlemen. Although a few breeders had preceded him, the spread of the breed from the Canadian border down to southern California can be traced to the impetus which the Congdon & Battles herd furnished. I have talked to several commercial users of Aberdeen-Angus on the range, and they have uniformly complimented Otto's strains of quick-growing, strong-framed, economically-fattening bulls for crosses on their herds. His success in the West has been as great a personal triumph as his early days in the Cornbelt.

But most important of all is Otto's relation to his fellow breeders. He has been universally known as a clean competitor in the show yard, a modest winner, and sportsmanlike loser. His contributions to the literature of the breed have been outstanding. Nearly ten years ago a university professor of foreign origin wrote of him, "He is obviously a gentleman who knows his cattle and who has learned the application of the principles of modern genetics to heredity through intelligent interpretation of his experience in breeding. But his finest asset is his ability to expound this knowledge judiciously for the benefit of inexperienced breeders." That's a mouthful, Otto, but those who have read your contributions and followed your judging at home and abroad agree most heartily.

Previously I stressed Otto's outlook toward the future. His fifty years have been borne buoyantly. We all wish him fifty more! But down in the bottom of our hearts we realize that is too long and arduous a job to wish on anyone, so we just ask him to keep his hand in, and his head up, for the next two decades, and we know that the tough pioneer fiber that was bequeathed him back in Iowa will keep him going strong. Otto, all of your associates and friends wish you the best of luck on this great Sale Day, and for every day to come.

50 Years a Cattle Breeder

Otto Battles started breeding Aberdeen-Angus Cattle back on his Mother's farm . . . and has become Internationally famous

FIFTY YEARS is a long time. It's a long time for anyone to be in a business, a home or a partnership, and, not too many generations ago, a half-century was more than the normal life expectancy. Even now, the Golden Jubilee celebration comes only to the favored few.

Unfortunately, fifty years is a much longer period of time than the average breeder of registered cattle carries on. For one reason or the other, most herds never reach such longevity. In fact, in all the North American continent it is difficult to recall more than a dozen herds that have been carried along by one family for half a century, even though two or three generations may be represented.

That is one reason why the story of Otto V. Battles is remarkable. A full fifty years ago, when he was a boy back on his mother's modest Iowa farm, he started breeding Aberdeen-Angus cattle. Today the fame of his Rosemere herd has spread to cattle circles in all corners of the globe.

"My entire life has been spent with Aberdeen-Angus cattle, and I love them." This simple statement by Otto Battles may contain the key to his success story, for his driving ambition to develop the perfect Aberdeen-Angus has been tempered with love strong enough to enable him to take the disappointments, the failures and discouragements along with the glory, in stride.

In a half century, Otto Battles has never purchased an animal for resale and he has never used a bull that did not carry some of his original breeding. He has won more International grand champion honors than any other beef cattle breeder, of Aberdeen-Angus or any other breed. His Rosemere cattle held the record for years of continuous showing at the Chicago International, a record also unsurpassed by any other breeder of any breed. Time and time again, products of his mastery as breeder and showman have resulted in his walking out of the greatest stock shows with one or two purple ribbons. And every animal, purple ribbon winner and blue ribbon winner, was a product of his own breeding program!

"No herd can be strong and highly respected without a breeder of integrity and ability behind it." Otto Battles must have considered this truth early in life, for ever since the beginning he has followed its ideals. He was brought up on a farm at Maquoketa, Iowa. His father, a good Iowa farmer and cattle feeder, died when he was still in grade school, leaving the farm to be operated by the mother-son-hired help combination. In 1898 when he was 12 years old he had already decided that his ambition in life was intertwined with the black, hornless cattle. Nurturing this ambition, a wise and devoted mother permitted him to buy two registered Aberdeen-Angus cows and a bull.

Otto Battles really considers that he became a breeder of Aberdeen-Angus in 1906, more than 40 years ago, for at that time he added Glenfoil Thick Set 2d, as a yearling, and females including Glenfoil Queen 2d and Eileen Lass. He won International grand championships on all three animals and twice on Glenfoil Thick Set 2d. As a matter of fact, Glenfoil Thick Set 2d was International grand champion bull three times, in 1907, 1908 and 1909, but in the latter year, he was shown by Mr. McHenry. Eileen Lass became ancestress of the famous Tolan Eileenmeres through her grandson, Eileenmere 4th, a son of Oakville Quiet Lad.

In 1909, his most important incident was the purchase of Oakville Quiet Lad, a yearling son of the International champion, Black Woodlawn. That a young man in his early teens had the ability to select such an outstanding young bull is remarkable in itself, for Oakville Quiet Lad was named grand champion at the great Chicago International in 1910. Used regularly until 1920, virtually every animal in the nationally known Rosemere herds in California and Iowa are direct descendants of that bull!

Glenfoil Thick Set 2d and Oakville Quiet Lad's victories at Chicago were only the beginning of a series of grand champion honors won at the International shows by the enterprising young breeder. Otto Battles considers his a program of line breeding. He believes in "out crosses" only to the extent of bringing in new herd bulls that carry at least 25% Rosemere blood. And that means they invariably trace back to Oakville Quiet Lad and Glenfoil Thick Set 2d, two of the great sires that served to make the name of Otto V. Battles renowned and respected in every part of the world where beef cattle are grown.

Today he gives his mother full credit for her advice and able assistance during his early years, when as a youngster he fitted and groomed his small string of Aberdeen-Angus cattle for the show rings at Chicago and elsewhere. When he took over the family farm at 21, he already had a sizable herd and a nationwide reputation as an outstanding breeder and showman.

"There is no more worthwhile business or one which is of greater importance to the welfare of our country than the improvement and maintenance of a high standard of quality in our live stock." Otto Battles made this statement in later years, but it probably was foremost in his mind in 1916 when, after many years of outstanding success as the master of Rosemere Farms, he started negotiations with Chester A. Congdon, the man who had most to do with development of farming country in Washington's great Yakima Valley. Just as Mr. Congdon and Mr. Battles were about to complete arrangements for a partnership, Mr. Congdon died. However, the heirs of the Congdon estate decided to carry out the plans formulated by long discussions between Mr. Battles and Mr. Congdon.

In this new arrangement, the name of Congdon & Battles became synonymous with fine Aberdeen-Angus cattle. Walter B. Congdon, son of Chester Congdon, became intensely interested in the herd and worked closely with Mr. Battles until the Congdon heirs decided to liquidate the partnership in 1938. The cattle within the partnership were sold in an auction sale which made beef cattle history, but Mr. Battles always retained his own foundation herd at Maquoketa. Following the Congdon & Battles dispersion, he continued the Rosemere herd at Maquoketa and at Yakima. Later he purchased a ranch in the famous Santa Ynez Valley of California where he now makes his home, maintaining a select small herd at the Los Olivos Ranch and the main herd in Iowa.

A remarkable man in many and diverse ways is Otto Battles. A writer of unusual ability, his articles have appeared in live stock publications in this country and in foreign lands, notably in the British Isles and South America. Many of his writings have been important features in Western Live Stock Journal during the past quarter century.

He is recognized as one of the world's great students of genetics. Time and time again his ability as a judge of all breeds of beef cattle, but particularly of Aberdeen-Angus, has taken him to major live stock shows in the United States and abroad. He was the first breeder in this country to be asked to judge the great Aberdeen-Angus show at Perth, Scotland. That was in 1930, and he pleased the British breeders to such an extent that they invited him twice again. Battles was also the first United States breeder to judge the great Palermo Angus show at Buenos Aires, Argentina. The impression he made there, as he judged what is possibly the largest Aberdeen-Angus show in the world, was strong enough that the Argentines, also, called him for two repeat performances. Canadian breeders have invited his judging many times.

With all his modesty and his genuine attitude of humility, Otto Battles is one of the topnotch history-makers among live stock breeders. With all of his unusual love for Aberdeen-Angus he has never been blind to the good qualities of rival breeds, nor has he ever lost sight of the ultimate end of the business—the beef carcass on the block. He has been responsible for literally hundreds of men becoming Aberdeen-Angus breeders—breeders now nationally known who started out with Rosemere blood. The pedigrees of nearly every notable Aberdeen-Angus herd in America today carry Rosemere blood. More than 5,000 breeding animals were sold from the Congdon & Battles herd alone from 1916 to 1938, probably that many more from Mr. Battles' own Rosemere herds. These shining black Aberdeen-Angus have gone into virtually every one of the 48 states, to the Hawaiian Islands, Canada, New Zealand, Australia and Mexico.

For a good many years Otto Battles was the sole exponent of Aberdeen-Angus cattle in the entire Pacific Slope area. He has lived to see the bonnie blacks dotting the hills and pastures of the western range country—a sight that some cowmen said would never be seen. He has lived to see the Pacific Coast states become one of the great Aberdeen-Angus breeding regions of the country, with hundreds of breeders, both large and small, through California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Nevada and Arizona.

Most of us who have followed the cattle business on the Pacific Coast during the past twenty-five years remember when Otto Battles was the sole exhibitor of Aberdeen-Angus cattle at many of the big state fairs. A strong believer in advertising and promotion and in the value of stock shows and fairs, he often had as many as three "show herds" traveling into every live stock growing section of United States and Canada. In his efforts to popularize the black breed he would have three herds good enough to make a strong impression upon cattlemen and thus expand the demand for Aberdeen-Angus cattle.

His modesty and tenacity of purpose, his willingness to serve the interests of improved beef cattle, his ability as a breed improver and showman, and his good business sense have brought him far-flung fame and honors. He has served two terms as president of the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association: he was the first president of the Pacific Coast Aberdeen-Angus Association, and he has served on the board of the American National Live Stock Association. He has constantly been more than liberal with his time, talents and fortune wherever he or his friends thought they would forward the cause of improved beef production.

Now Otto Battles is celebrating his FIRST 50 years as an Aberdeen-Angus breeder. He is holding his Golden Anniversary sale back at the home farm in Iowa, where he started out with the guidance of his mother in 1898. Many who received his beautifully illustrated sale catalog back in 1938 on the occasion of the Congdon & Battles herd dispersion still treasure the pages filled with photographs of early day Aberdeen-Angus improvers right up to the modern Aberdeen-Angus of today.

And when that Golden Anniversary sale is held Monday, May 17th, at Maquoketa, Iowa; you'll find Aberdeen-Angus breeders and breeders of other modern beef improvers there to pay homage to one of the truly great men in modern animal husbandry. You'll find a man standing on the threshold of another half century of breed improvement—refusing to rest on the laurels of the past, looking to the future with the same driving spirit he had when he was a boy of twelve. That, too, is another reason why the story of Otto Battles, is remarkable.

Rosemere and the Eileenmeres

IT IS A PLEASURE to take this opportunity to extend to Mr. Otto V. Battles our most sincere congratulations on his 50th Anniversary of his Rosemere herd and to suggest to breeders throughout the land, the foreign lands, too, that they attend Rosemere's 50th Anniversary Sale on May 17th. It is fitting that Mr. Battles celebrate this Anniversary, for few of us are given the time, if we had the wish, plus the persistence necessary to operate a herd for fifty years. We are not exactly new in the business—we have experienced so-called "lean years"—but those years do more, perhaps, towards improving a herd than do "good years". We believe that Mr. Battles has experienced the "lean years", too, at Rosemere, but he carried on, building, improving, and promoting the breed. It is because of his intense interest in Aberdeen-Angus cattle, not so much in looking back over the past but in anticipating the future years, that we extend our congratulations.

It is a well-known fact that our herd is "The Home of the Eileenmeres". It was during the International Show in Chicago in 1917 that Mr. Battles recommended that I buy one or two good yearling sons of the International grand champion, Oakville Quiet Lad. During the Christmas holidays I went to the farm at Maquoketa and decided on taking Eileenmere 4th. I picked him on account of his smoothness and his great sire and dam and the fact they were producing. I would not have known this bull except for Mr. Battles. THE PURCHASE OF THIS BULL SOLVED OUR HERD BULL PROBLEM UP TO THE PRESENT DAY.

Eileenmere 4th will always be highly regarded by us—he should be, for he sired, among others, Eileenmere 15th who more or less started our show-ring record, as well as our advance in the business. Eileenmere 15th sired Eileenmere 32d, who was responsible for many show-ring winners including two International champions, Blackcap Tolan 35th, three times grand champion at the International, and Eileenmere 85th, the 1935 winner and sire of the International grand champions, Evermere T. and Eileenmere 500th.

After the purchase of Eileenmere 4th, we bought a carload of cows from Mr. Battles that were shipped from Yakima, Washington. These proved to be great producers for us when mated to a grandson of Eileenmere 4th. We still have some daughters and granddaughters of these cows in our herd. I remember the first cows in the Battles' herd and have watched the progress of Rosemere cattle with great interest. Probably no herd in the Aberdeen-Angus world has produced more great cows than the Rosemere herd and many great producing bulls have left this herd to be scattered over a wide territory.

I think that Aberdeen-Angus breeders in general appreciate the work that has been done at Rosemere to improve the breed, and so to Mr. Battles, may he enjoy a splendid and successful sale on May 17th, as well as in years to come; to Rosemere, may she, as a herd, continue to produce great beef cattle, the kind that will always keep Aberdeen-Angus in the foreground in the industry.

Rosemere Cattle at Cold Saturday

By MR. and MRS. H. HAMILTON HACKNEY,
Owners of the famous Cold Saturday, Aberdeen-Angus herd, Finksburg, Maryland; one of the pioneer
Aberdeen-Angus herds of the East.

DEAR MR. BATTLES:

WE are glad to contribute a statement to the catalog of your Golden Anniversary Sale. This event represents a remarkable achievement which we are sure will be accorded the National recognition and support that it so fully deserves.

In the Congdon & Battles Dispersal Sale in 1938, we bought, as you know, a substantial number of cattle. Our outstanding purchase at this sale was Epponia C. B. 2d, one of the greatest cows of the breed, who had already produced one International grand champion bull, Epponian of Rosemere 8th, and in this sale had a full brother to him at foot, Epponian 12th of Rosemere. We have a number of daughters of the "12th" in our herd, one of whom was an International first prize winner. One of Epponia's sons was an International first prize winner, and he in turn sired a grand champion bull at the National Sale in Chicago. We also bought several Rosemere Antelopes, and we think a lot of this strain. They have been consistently good producers, and are deserving of popular recognition. We also bought a daughter of Pride of Rosemere 67th, International grand champion female. This cow gave us very good calves. One of her daughters, by Epponian 12th, produced a $3500.00 heifer sold to Raona Farm in the last Maryland Sale.

These are just a few of the good producing cattle that we procured at that time, and which made our investment in Rosemere cattle a sound one that we have never regretted. Rosemere has been a constructive influence in the Aberdeen-Angus industry, and will go down in Aberdeen-Angus history with a record that few herds can equal.

A Half Century of Constructive Improvement

By DR. M. E. ENSMINGER
Head of the Animal Husbandry Department of the Washington State College and a Nationally known authority on genetics and other phases of live stock breeding.

A HALF CENTURY of constructive improvement! No finer tribute can be paid to any man—whether he be live stock breeder, doctor, lawyer, merchant or chief. Yes, the name of Otto V. Battles is among the immortals in the live stock world. He is truly a "master breeder" of Aberdeen-Angus cattle.

The State of Washington and the West are justly proud of the part which Otto V. Battles and his Rosemere cattle have played in the transformation of the beef industry of the range—a transformation which has gone hand in hand with the development and extension of the nation itself, and which has spanned from the original Texas Longhorn to the present-day Prime Steer.

Among the cardinal qualities which the writer urges that both the amateur and the old-timer seek in acquiring breeding animals of foundation calibre are: (1) outstanding individuality; (2) superior ancestors (particularly close up in the pedigree), and uniformly good offspring if the animal is in production; (3) limited number of breeders listed in the pedigree, thus indicating uniformity in type and breeding; and (4) buying the best—where a constructive breeder has left off rather than spending precious years building up to this point. In analyzing these qualities, one soon becomes aware that they can be fully met only in a "breeding establishment", in contrast to the altogether too common "trading post". The Rosemere herd, representing a half-century of constructive breeding, is truly a unique establishment.

Time marches on—and with it the great Rosemere cattle and Otto V. Battles. Both have a bright future in an atomic age, an era which is destined to be characterized by greater efficiency of production—in both industry and agriculture.

The Rosemeres at Hardwick Farms

By JOE KEEFAUVER

Of Keefauver Bros., of Jonesboro, Tennessee; formerly manager of the famous Hardwick Farms' Aberdeen-Angus herd of Cleveland, Tennessee.

AT the 1935 International I selected Prizemere 364th 484821 as the first herd sire for Hardwick Farms. He had been a consistent winner all year and stood second in class to the Junior Champion bull. Mr. Battles was showing then under the Congdon & Battles banner. "364th" was a son of the International grand champion, Pride of Rosemere 67th. He was one of the main factors in the success of the Hardwick herd. We used two of his sons as herd bulls and his many daughters were fine breeding cows. Three-fourths of our herd is made up of daughters and granddaughters of Prizemere 364th.

The daughters of Prizemere 32d we bought in the Congdon & Battles Dispersion proved to be outstanding individuals as well as fine producers. We could always count on their calves being in the show barn.

Epponian of Rosemere 8th at Le Baron Farms

By DAVE SUTHERLAND

One of the best known fitters and showmen of the East, manager of the famous Le Baron Aberdeen-Angus herd of Warrenton, Virginia.

DEAR MR. BATTLES:

I ENJOY reading your articles in the Aberdeen-Angus JOURNAL giving the history of the Rosemere herd and the many famous bulls and cows you have produced. It interests me because when this herd started in 1936 at Broadview Farm, then owned by Mr. Hagner, we wanted to get the best foundation that could be got so we would not have to start over. We checked to see who had the herd with the best show record, we also wanted the best bull that could be bought regardless of price. We soon decided on the bull we wanted, Epponian of Rosemere 8th, the 1936 International grand champion. We finally managed to get him bought along with a group of Rosemere females which have done a wonderful job here in the Le Baron herd.

Epponian of Rosemere 8th, in my opinion, was one of the greatest breeding bulls of the breed. He nicked with more cows and got more good calves and fewer poor calves than any bull we have ever used. His calves were uniform with bulls and heifers equally good. In my opinion, bulls of this kind are hard to find. I regret that we ever used any other bull as his calves were so much better than any of the other bulls we used until his sons came along.

I have always felt that we were very fortunate in getting our foundation from the Rosemere herd.

Greetings from Hawaii

By HAROLD K. CASTLE

Owner of the Kaneohe Ranch Company, Limited, of Hawaii, Aberdeen-Angus Breeder, Ship Owner and Sugar Producer of the Hawaiian Islands.

HAVE just received your letter of December 23d and wish to extend my congratulations on the occasion of the Golden Jubilee of the Rosemere herd.

As you know in this history of our breeding operations, we established many years ago a pure bred unit which we planned to use as a source of supply for breeding bulls in our commercial herd. After a number of years, we found that under conditions prevailing in this country, we could buy a better type of pure bred bull on a more economical basis than by continuing our operations along this line. Following this decision, we threw our pure bred herd into the commercial herd and commenced buying our pure bred bulls from the Mainland.

With only one or two exceptions, we bought all of our bulls from you over a period of many years and were also instrumental in enlisting the enthusiasm of other Aberdeen-Angus breeders in this country in your cattle. This led to a number of importations which we organized to supply bulls to other herds than our own, which led to repeat orders to you from these various sources.

Due to War conditions and particularly to the loss of large areas of land required for military purposes, it was necessary to cease our breeding operations. The final lot of breeding cows and bulls was sold to one of the prominent local organizations and the uniform type and high quality of these animals reflected the result of what we believe was a constructive and well planned breeding program. This high standard of quality was due in large measure to the breeding stock we had received from you over such a long period of time.

Our final shipments of butcher cattle to the market called forth extravagant praise from all those that inspected the carcass lot. Not only had we increased weights steadily over the years, but the smooth, even covering and marbling showed their excellent quality.

We will always have some lands available for pasturing cattle and I look forward with enthusiasm, after the present period of readjustment is concluded, to the time when we may again have at least a small herd of our favorite breed on the Ranch.

Not only were the cattle we received from you eminently satisfactory, but our dealings with you over a long period of years were of the most pleasant nature.

We look forward to doing business with you in the future and congratulate you again upon your splendid record.

Rosemere's International Record

Nothing can be stated with more truth than the show record of any herd at the International. For the International record is to be found by anyone interested enough to look and the facts are all one can find. Rosemere can well be proud of its International record of championships and grand championships since the establishment of the herd. It is not our purpose to suggest or describe International winnings, rather to illustrate a few facts by the use of actual winnings as made by Rosemere. A herd may be fortunate enough to win once or twice, but to win several times or to lead all in the matter of winning must indicate that there's more to it than mere luck. Following are listed the championships awarded Rosemere over the years. In checking them please bear in mind that since 1938 Rosemere has exhibited only a few times and that mostly on the Pacific coast.

International Grand Champions

Include the Following

Glenfoil Thick Set 2d.....	(three times) 1907, 1908, 1909

The Rosemeres in Other Herds

By COLIN KENNEDY
Managing Editor of THE ABERDEEN-ANGUS JOURNAL

A TRUE TEST of a great herd of cattle may be found in the performance record of individuals from that herd in the hands of other breeders. In this respect Rosemere Aberdeen-Angus have been outstanding. Few are the top herds in the country that do not show Rosemere breeding in some of their better producing individuals. In the popular Eileenmere, Sunbeams, Bandoliers, Bardoliers and Epponians individuals of Rosemere breeding have made significant contributions.

The popular Bandoliers stem from the mating of Blackbird Bandolier of Page with Barbara of Rosemere 47th, a daughter of Idolmere 4th out of Metz Miss Barbara. The dam of Bandolier of Anoka—sire of the great Black Bardolier—was a daughter of Queenmere 32d, a Battles-bred bull.

Foundation of the famous Eileenmeres was the Rosemere-bred Eileenmere 4th. He was strong in the blood of Black Woodlawn through his champion son, Oakville Quiet Lad. Dam of Eileenmere 4th was Black Eileen, probably the greatest daughter of Black Woodlawn.

Rosemere blood has contributed its share to the great producing record of the Sunbeam herd. Dam of the $60,000.00 Prince Sunbeam 249th, now in the Ellerslie herd in Virginia, was by Barbarian of Rosemere 88th. Barbarian of Rosemere 88th left many good daughters in the Fullerton herd. He also sired the dam of the $20,000.00 Prince Sunbeam 156th, now in the Springhaven herd in Indiana. Dam of the $35,000.00 "Flying Willie"—Prince Barbarian of Sunbeam heading the Shadow Isle herd in New Jersey—was a daughter of Barbarian of Rosemere 103d. This Battles-bred bull also left many good producing daughters in the famous Oklahoma herd.

Barbara of Rosemere 100th, International grand champion female of 1933, made an outstanding producing record after having been acquired by the Fullertons. Two of her sons, Prince Sunbeam 100th and Prince Sunbeam 200th, are in use in the Sunbeam herd today. Her daughters, in the Fullerton herd and elsewhere, have been outstanding as individuals and as producers. Truly, this champion daughter of the champion Prizemere 32d has been one of the all-time greats of the breed.

The contribution of Rosemere blood in the production of great cattle can be recalled in many herds. Queenmere 32d, first bull of note used by Edwards Brothers, of Canada, bred to Barbara of Rosemere 47th, produced Barbara Rose of Anoka, foundation cow of a popular family. Queenmere 32d was also the sire of Barbara McHenry of Anoka, another of a famous line, and the dam of Bandolier of Anoka. Bandolier of Anoka was an International junior champion and the sire of the great Black Bardolier.

Enchantrene, dam of the champion Eileenmere 85th, traces to Eileen of Rosemere, purchased from the Battles herd by R. Wilkinson, of Iowa. Black Gem of Rosemere was the dam of Black Belmore, sire of Bell Boy M. K. and progenitor of another famous line of cattle.

One must not forget Prizemere 12th, sold to Harry Leader of Canada. This bull made a great record as a sire, with one of his get, Enfileen of Northlane 2d, dam of Enfileen's Bandolier 2d. Mention must also be made of Blackcapmere 121st, used by Woodlawn Farms in Illinois, and the sire of the many-times winner, Blendmere Woodlawn. Barbara of Rosemere 41st was the dam of Barbara 2d of Strathmore, who in turn was the mother of Eileenmere 260th, an International senior champion now heading the Marydale herd in Louisiana. Another Battles-bred product to make good was Blackcapmere 113th, an American Royal grand champion. He was sold to Modena Plantation in Georgia and has made a great sirring record.

The 1948 Ft. Worth grand champion bull, Double Blackcapmere, carries much Rosemere blood. His grand-sire was Prizemere 387th, sold to Thousand Hills Farm in Missouri, where he produced a lot of good cattle, including Blackcap's Prizemere, the sire of the Meier champion at Ft. Worth.

Certainly not to be overlooked is Epponian of Rosemere 8th, International grand champion bull in 1936. As the property of Le Baron of Virginia he has gone on to establish the famous Le Baron Epponian strain of cattle. Another bull making an enviable breeding record was Blackmere 97th, sold to Ehlers Brothers, of Illinois. He sired many top cattle, including the dam of Belcap E. B., a Denver winner and now one of the sires in use at Rosemere.

Another of the famous producing matrons bred and developed at Rosemere was Epponia of C. B. 2d. She was the dam of the International champion bull, Epponian of Rosemere 8th, and in the Congdon and Battles sale of June, 1938, topped at $3,500.00 to go to Cold Saturday Farm in Maryland. Here she produced a son, Cold Saturday Epponian, first prize winner at the 1941 International. He was sold to Ankony Farms in New York where he sired Ankonian 10th, champion bull of the 1946 National Show in Chicago.

One could name many more instances. Rosemere-bred cattle have made an enviable reputation in other herds. They should, for they carry about as much championship breeding as it is possible to get into a single animal.

The Rosemere Sale Cattle . . .

As I saw them at the Farm on February 22d, 1948

By W. M. "Bill" BARTON
Representative of THE ABERDEEN-ANGUS JOURNAL

IMMEDIATELY following the National Show and Sale in Chicago it was my privilege and pleasure to visit Rosemere Farms along with Gay Quammen and E. H. Anderson. This was my first visit to Rosemere since 1944. On this day the weather was very cold, just a few degrees above zero, and the wind was blowing. In addition the date was February 22d and it was Sunday. For some reason I did not relish the idea of looking at cattle.

On arriving at Rosemere we found Roland Ehlers, the manager, busy out in the lots. He had his heavy boots and sheep lined coat on and the flaps on his cap were down over his ears. However he seemed happy to be working with his cattle and as we were soon to see, he had every reason to be proud of his charges.

I knew that Mr. Battles had been planning for the past two and a half years on this his 50th Anniversary Sale. However I do not believe any of us expected to see cattle as good as those which Roland pointed out to us. First we went into the lots south of the large open shed. Here was a group of some twenty bred heifers, all in excellent condition and looking like the famous Rosemere cattle of other years. Many were several months along in calf. Others had been bred recently to the young herd sire, Prince Sunbeam 300th.

As we walked through the lot Roland pointed out daughters of many of the famous Rosemere show cows. First of all there were the Barbaras, and all Aberdeen-Angus breeders know the history which has been written by the Rosemere Barbaras. Many were sired by the great Barbara bull, Barbarian of Rosemere 175th who is out of a full sister to Barbarian of Rosemere 103d, the bull which has made such an outstanding record in the Sunbeam herd. Others were sired by Belcap E. B., a first prize winner at Denver and out of a daughter of the great Prizemere 32d. In addition to the Barbaras we saw the Rosemere Prides and Rosemere Queen Mothers, other families which have made outstanding records in the Aberdeen-Angus breed. The Rosemere Blackbirds and the Blackcaps were also outstanding.

Yes, there were a lot of good cattle in this first pen and we thought we were looking at a part of the show herd. However we soon found that we were not, because Roland led us on down through the barns into the other lots. Here was another group of some twenty females and here really were the show cattle, short legged, short backed, and with worlds of body. We all agreed that these were a set of heifers good enough to go anywhere and work an improvement in any herd. I know that I was surprised to see so many good heifers together and I am sure Gay and Red were also.

The open heifers were just as impressive as were the bred ones. There just were not as many of them, because Mr. Battles and his crew are planning and trying to give the buying public as much for their money as possible, and also all of the top young cattle for the past two and one half years have been retained for this 50th Anniversary sale. No tops from the Rosemere herd have been offered for sale since 1945.

After leaving the females, we went into the bull lots to see the prospective herd sires which were to be offered. The bulls in this sale are of the modern day type, smooth with excellent fleshing qualities and with a good rugged leg under each corner. Most of them were sired by Belcap E. B., however two or three were by Double Epponian of Le Baron and one or two were by Barbarian of Rosemere 175th. I do know that they are the kind of bulls which have made the Aberdeen-Angus breed so popular and are the kind that will continue to improve our great breed of beef cattle.

It might be of interest to some breeders to know that the cattle in the present Rosemere herd are all descendants of great cows and bulls which Mr. Battles has used on the farm at Maquoketa, Iowa. The Rosemere herd in Iowa was never a part of the Congdon & Battles partnership herd. When the Congdon & Battles herd was first established the original cows at Rosemere were not included. This herd has always been a separate unit and owned exclusively by Mr. Battles and his Mother. About a year after the Congdon & Battles dispersion, I spent a day at the Maquoketa farm with Mr. Battles. At that time I saw some fifty head of the best Aberdeen-Angus cows I had ever seen. Many of them were daughters of Prizemere 32d. Mr. Battles told me then that he had always tried to keep his top cows and his top producers in the Rosemere herd. All of the cattle selling in this 50th Anniversary sale are direct descendants of those great cows which I saw nine years ago.

The Rosemere cattle today still represent the same type and blood lines which have been used so successfully by other breeders. The group of cattle in this sale are the finest Mr. Battles has ever offered. The production records of their dams and grandams are known to all. These young cattle could easily make even a better record for their new owners. They are the kind which Mr. Battles has been striving to produce for 50 years. I am sure you will like them.

BLACK WOODLAWN—Is known as the foundation sire of ROSEMERE breeding. He is considered the greatest Aberdeen-Angus Bull of all time in America.

The Eileenmeres . . .

Little did we expect that Eileenmere 4th, although we considered him a great Bull, would become the progenitor of a strain of cattle that have become, not only renowned in the breed, but throughout the beef cattle world. We are happy to have bred Eileenmere 4th—but want to state that the development of the Eileenmeres has been done by J. Garrett Tolan and to Mr. Tolan should go all of the credit.

EILEENMERE 4th—The First great Eileenmere.

BARBARIAN of ROSEMERE 175th 675797—This bull has been one of our chief herd sires since he was of service age. In fact, he was selected for a herd sire at the time he was born, because of the combination of breeding which he represented. This is the system which has been used so successfully in our herd in the selection of our show prospects, and we have seldom been disappointed in the results it has given us. He developed individually as we had hoped that he would, and his get in this sale demonstrate that he has fulfilled our expectations of him as a sire. The pertinent points of his pedigree are that he is a Rosemere Barbara and that it also contains the names of some of the most outstanding bulls and females of the breed, a number of which were International champions, and other producers of International champions.

BARBARIAN of ROSEMERE 190th 793297—This is a bull of our own breeding which we early selected as a herd sire on the strength of his illustrious ancestry. It will be noted that he combines two of the best-known strains of the breed, Epponian and the Rosemere Barbaras. Also relevant is the fact that a number of his immediate ancestors were outstanding show yard winners. The record of the McHenry Barbaras, from which the Rosemere Barbaras have descended, is too well-known to require further comment. Insofar as the Rosemere Barbaras are concerned, the names of Barbara of Rosemere 4th, Barbara C. B. 2d, Barbara of Rosemere 33d, Barbara of Rosemere 40th, Barbara of Rosemere 47th, Barbara of Rosemere 64th, Barbara of Rosemere 100th, and Barbarian of Rosemere 64th, will always stand out in breed history for their unusual show yard accomplishments. Every one, except two of the last named animals, has been a champion either at the American Royal or Chicago International.

EPPONIAN of ROSEMERE 11th 508827—This great breeding son of Prizemere 32d was chief herd sire in the Meier Brothers herd of Melbourne, Iowa for several years. We brought him back to Rosemere for the purpose of further concentrating the blood of Prizemere 32d. It will be recalled that Epponian of Rosemere 11th is a full brother to Epponia C. B. 2d, the mother of the International grand champion bull, Epponian of Rosemere 8th. Some of the very top individuals in the sale are by this fine sire.

BELCAP E. B. 718777—This bull was selected in accordance with our long established plan of introducing new blood into the herd by frequently bringing in sires carrying an infusion of extrinsic breeding of outstanding producing strains, which in this case is Bell Boy Glencarnock and Revolution breeding. Belcap E. B. not only fits into this plan by reason of his own pedigree, but he is also an outstanding individual, something we have always insisted upon. Our theory has consistently been that the right kind of breeding should produce a good individual, and Belcap E. B. substantiates and is evidence of its success. He stood at the head of a strong class at the Denver show of 1946, since which time he has not been shown. The get of Belcap E. B. in this sale will give convincing proof of his ability as a sire, and we are confident that the future show ring accomplishments of his sons and daughters will add still more conclusive proof of his meritorious record.

PRINCE SUNBEAM 300th 911042—Is the latest addition to our battery of herd sires. When we learned that he was to be offered in the recent Sunbeam sale, we were determined to acquire him if it were at all possible. He is one of the only three bulls of the breed that has both an International grand champion mother and an International grand champion sire, the other two being his full brothers who are now in service in the famous Sunbeam herd at Miami, Oklahoma. The other reason why we were determined to acquire this bull is that we produced his mother, and showed her to an International grand championship. We have high anticipations of the results Prince Sunbeam 300th will give us, and we will pass some of his benefits on to those who purchase females in our 50th Anniversary sale, due to the fact that a number of the bred heifers are carrying his service.

ANKONIAN 75th 952312—This is another herd sire which we have recently acquired because of the remarkable combination of his breeding and individuality. On the dam's side, this bull traces to Barbara McHenry 18th, the original ancestress of our famous Rosemere Barbaras through her daughter, Barbara of Rosemere 4th, by Oakville Quiet Lad. His pedigree also carries the name of Barbara of Rosemere 47th, who, produced so many great show cattle including one International grand champion bull, Bandolier of Anoka 6th, a full brother to Bandolier of Anoka 7th, who appears as a grandsire in the pedigree.

The Sale Bulls

Probably at no time in the history of pure bred live stock have herd bulls been more important than is the case today. In studying the success of breeders throughout the land, it is the generally accepted opinion that the breeder, using the proper kind of a herd bull, with emphasis on both his type and his breeding, is the same breeder whose cattle sell at values above average, and whose cattle do the winning at the live stock shows. The bulls, being offered in this 50th Anniversary sale are nothing short of herd bull prospects, bulls, that we have selected to represent Rosemere, and bulls, that we would be happy to use in our own herd. Rosemere has never offered bulls as good at auction. The records will bear out the fact that many great breeding bulls have been sold in one or another Rosemere auction. Be sure to study the tabulations of these bulls. We are sure that you will find not just one or two, but several suitable to improve the herds into which they may go and to improve the breed as a whole.

Colin Kennedy who saw him recently remarked that this might easily be the attraction of the bull offering. His dam, Barbara of Rosemere 144th, is the mother of two of the best sires ever used in the Rosemere herd. She is also a full sister to Barbarian 103d, a most highly prized sire in the famous Sunbeam herd.

BLACKMERE 262d 851040—Is an outstanding show bull for the two year old class this year and more than that his pedigree is one that recommends him very highly for a future herd sire. We value a pedigree by the great animals which it contains. His sire, Belcap E. B., was first prize two year old at Denver in 1946; Bell Boy's Revolution, whose dam was by the two times International first prize Glencarnock Revolution 6th; Blackmere 97th, International first prize junior yearling; the incomparable Prizemere 32d; Prizemere 9th, International first prize two year old; and Blackcapmere 3d, one of the great breeding sons of Prizemere 9th. His own mother, Blackbird of Rosemere 164th, was never defeated in three years showing, except by Blackcap Tolan 35th, three times International grand champion female.

BLACKCAPMERE 256th 996370—Here is a full brother to the two year old show heifer, Blackcap of Rosemere 204th. This is an opportunity for someone to secure a pair that will stand strong competition in the produce of dam class for this year's shows. It is only in an event of this kind that a pair like this would be offered. A sister of this pair, Blackcap of Rosemere 160th, won her class at Denver as a summer yearling, and again as a senior yearling.

EPPONIAN of ROSEMERE 19th 923056—We are proud to be able to present this great young bull to our many Rosemere friends. Individually, he is all one would expect when considering the great animals which make up his pedigree. Sired by Double Epponian of Le Baron should be enough to recommend him very highly but more than that he is a grandson of Epponia 3d of Rosemere, a full sister in blood to the International grand champion bull, Epponian of Rosemere 8th. It will be noted that he is a double Epponian.

His dam, Queen of Rosemere 374th, was reserve champion at the 1944 Great Western Livestock show as a junior yearling. Since that time she has developed into one of the finest cows in the entire herd. This young bull is a fine example of the ability of Rosemere breeding to nick with other blood lines.

QUEENMERE 431st 934141—This is one of the several attractive sons of Double Epponian of Le Baron that is consigned to the sale. We feel that he is a high class herd sire prospect. Both his breeding and individuality will meet with the approval of the most particular breeder. Be sure to see his half sister, Queen of Rosemere 401st, also in the sale.

The Sale Females

Much has been written about great families, great individuals and great show cattle. Rosemere has had its share of great show cattle, exhibiting many of the most highly regarded of champions; families, whose progeny has become permanently great, because of the type of cattle they continue to produce generation after generation; cows, that have built great herds. Rosemere is proud of this fifty year record and in selecting the females for this sale has been most careful to uphold this record. The sires of these sale females, their respective families and their dams are the kind that produce great cattle, and these sale females are the only kind, that bred to proper bulls, will continue to work an improvement. That's what we want at Rosemere, to offer cattle that will work an improvement. We feel that every female in this sale will prove a real credit to Rosemere.

To that end has the sale consignment been selected.

Our Rosemere Barbaras are universally popular and this heifer is a good example of the reason why. An important thing to remember in connection with them, also, is that they originated in probably the greatest herd of all time in America, the McHenry herd. She comes to you bred to Belcap E. BLACKCAP of ROSEMERE 199th 851039—A member of our famous Rosemere Blackcap family and a fine young female. Her sire, Epponian of Rosemere 11th is also the sire of the dam of the champion El-Jon herd sire, Raona's Bardolier 3d. The dam of this heifer is of the type and conformation which is and has been largely responsible for the continued success of Rosemere.

BLACKCAP of ROSEMERE 204th 898457—Is an outstanding show prospect for the two year old class this year. More than that she comes from a great line of top breeding females, which should recommend her very highly as a producing cow after her show days are over. Her dam, Blackcap of Rosemere 81st, left a great many wonderful females in the Rosemere herd. She herself, being sired by Blackcapmere 56th, who is a half brother through his dam to the American Royal grand champion bull, Blackcapmere 113th, which is the bull used so successfully in the well known Roebling herd of Savannah, Georgia. She comes to you bred to Ankonian 75th, as of October 19, 1947.

She is in our opinion, an excellent prospect for a senior yearling show heifer this year and her breeding speaks for itself. On one side we have the famous Eileenmere and on the other side we have the Rosemere line of Barbaras which produced the great show bull, Eileenmere 260th who now is at the head of the select Marydale Farms herd owned by Mr. Lloyd Cobb of St. Francisville, Louisiana. Eileenmere 260th was grand champion at the 1940 American Royal and senior champion at the Chicago International of 1941.

EPPONIA of ROSEMERE 9th 989975—Is a concentration of two of our most popular families, the Rosemere Barbaras and the Rosemere Epponias. Her sire, Barbarian of Rosemere 190th is one of the greatest individual bulls we have ever produced in the herd. He should be as he is a grandson of two International champions, a combination that one seldom finds at a public offering.

Her mother, Irene of Rosemere 27th, is a granddaughter of two of Rosemere's greatest sires, Prizemere 9th, and Meraman of Tierra Alta. Irene of Rosemere 61st, like her mother is extremely low set and deep bodied. We can recommend her to the most discriminating cattlemen. She comes to you bred to Belcap E. PRIDE of ROSEMERE 645th 895981—Here we have an outstanding show heifer and a great breeding prospect as well. It will be noted she is sired by Double Epponian of Le Baron, the great young bull we sold to Philip H. Postel of South Side Stock Farms fame, for $10,000. She is the only daughter of this sire in the sale. The reason we are parting with her is to add still another attraction to the sale offering.

PRIDE of ROSEMERE 654th 950260—It is doubtful if any other one family has contributed more to Rosemere's unparalleled show record than our Rosemere Prides. We feel that this heifer can do her part in furthering that record. She is typical of the get of her sire, lowset, wide, and deep bodied. Her mother is one of the very few daughters of Blackmere 97th in the herd, and they are consistently good producers, which isn't surprising when considering the individuality of Blackmere 97th, himself an International winner.

Her mother, Pride of Rosemere 549th is one of the best daughters of the champion sire, Eileenmere 61st we have produced. She was a consistent winner at the major shows of 1940 and 1942. QUEEN of ROSEMERE 401st 856911—Here is conclusive proof that Rosemere breeding will nick with other bloodlines. Her sire was an extremely low set son of Prizemere 307th and out of one of the best show cows sired by Prizemere 32d, namely, Erica 19th of Rosemere. On the dam's side, we have Bell Boy's Revolution, a son of the famous sire, Bell Boy A. It will be remembered that Bell Boy's Revolution is also the sire of Belcap E. B., winner at Denver in 1946, and the sire of a number of the animals in this sale.

QUEEN of ROSEMERE 403d 893606—A glance at this pedigree and it is readily understandable why this is one of the top females in the entire Rosemere herd. Her sire, Belcap E. B., was first prize two year old bull at Denver in 1946. Her dam, Jerome's Queen 722d A., is without a doubt one of the greatest individual cows in America today. As an eleven year old cow she still maintains her tremendous depth and smoothness. Jerome's Queen 722d A. was grand champion female at most of the important shows in the West and Middle West during 1940-41 and ended her show yard career by winning the aged cow class at the 1941 International. Her sire, Barbarian of Rosemere 86th, is a full brother to Barbarian of Rosemere 103d, used with outstanding success in the Fullerton herd where he sired the dam of the $35,000 Prince Barbarian of Sunbeam.

QUEEN of ROSEMERE 402d 893611—We think that this heifer is a credit to the Queen Mother family which has contributed so much to the fame of the Rosemere herd. This family has produced many of our show yard winners and our top-selling animals. The original great sire of the herd, Oakville Quiet Lad, was a Queen Mother and some of the International winners we have shown of this family were Glenfoil's Queen 2d, Queen of Rosemere 5th, Jerome's Queen 722d A. and Queen of Rosemere 337th. She comes to you bred to Ankonian 75th as of October 19, 1947.

QUEEN of ROSEMERE 409th 923058—This heifer is a member of our Rosemere Queen Mother family which has contributed much to the success of the Rosemere herd through the years. Through her sire we have the successful combination of Eileenmere 61st and Prizemere 32d. On the mother's side of the pedigree we find she is a direct descendant of Floretta 4th of Rosemere, foundation cow of many of our top females. This family is noted for their extreme depth and thickness. Much of this was brought in the early days of the herd through the great foundation sire, Oakville Quiet Lad, who was also of the Queen Mother family. She sells bred to Ankonian 75th as of October 22, 1947.
